one of the largest delegations yet to arrive from any single town. Besides the Cleburnites came to advertise their town. They were dressed in white dust coats and white hats and carried banners. No time was lost by the aggregation of boosters. They visited everything in connection with the Cotton Palace, called on up-town acquaintances and mingled with Wacoans until the hour the special returned.

Prizes were awarded at the Cotton Palace grounds for the best out-of-town band. The Reisels band took first; Lott, second, and Martine, third.

Elks to Have the Ball.

Today is Elks, Bankers and Oklahoma day. This program is expected to attract several thousand people to the Cotton Palace who have not attended. The Elks will have charge of the grand ball following the band concert in the evening. No one save those with a card of invitation will be permitted to participate in the ball. Bankers from all sections of Central Texas will be here to enjoy the day. They will bring their families and friends. Oklahomaans who are interested in the development of the cotton industry will attend to confer with the most prosperous cotton growers of the Southwest, those of Central Texas.

GERMAN DAY PARADE.

Many Handsomely Decorated Floats Are in the March.

Handsomely decorated floats, the waving silk banners of two nations, and soldiers marching with muskets over their shoulders as in the "old country," all combined to make the German Day parade one of the most attractive which has yet been held in this city during the Cotton Palace. Prizes were awarded the best floats by a committee composed of Miss Kate Friend, S. Archonhold and Sam Sanger. The floats winning were as follows: Lorelei Sisters, first; Maenncher Club, second; Deutscher Central Verein, third.

Mrs. Woonig was awarded the prize for the best decorated automobile, and the prize for the best decorated horse-drawn vehicle went to Hermann von Guerner.

That this proved to be one of the most attractive parades yet seen, the costumes being more elaborate, and the decorations more carefully arranged than in most of the others held during the Cotton Palace, seemed the consensus of opinion of those who lined the streets to watch it pass.

The parade formed at the Deutscher Central Verein on Webster and Ninth streets and marched down Webster to Eighth, down Eighth to Franklin, down Franklin to Third, down Third to Austin, on Austin west to Eighth, down Eighth to Clay and thence to the Cotton Palace.

The Baylor band awaited the parade at the corner of Eighth and Franklin streets. They fell into line just behind the Lorelei Sisters float.

Chief Hollis Barron and mounted officers led the parade, being followed by Mayor Mackey and Commissioner Gorman in an automobile. Three young lady standard bearers, mounted on horses, bore Old Glory, the German flag, followed by the regimental flag of the soldiers further back in the parade.

Then came Alessandro's band and more standard bearers, followed by a company of typical German soldiers in full uniform and carrying the regulation rifles, a float representing a four-manned and officered, and a float representing a torpedo boat. Decorated automobiles followed the "Red Devil" bearing the chief of the fire department, coming next.

Afloat were members of the Dutch club, followed by a float attractively decorated by the Order of the Sons of Hermann.

The Lorelei Sisters' float followed, and then came the Baylor band and a number of decorated automobiles. Children, in an automobile decorated to represent a basket, and with ribbon reins, were apparently drawn by butterflies, attractively arranged along the front of the car.

The Maenncher Club's float was next in line and a float representing Central Verein followed, the latter being a bower of flowers on which rode a number of pretty girls. There were visiting Sons of Hermann from Reisel, Taylor, Dallas, Rosebud, McGregor and other nearby towns.

CLEBURNE SUSPENDS BUSINESS.

Big Crowd Came From the Live Santa Fe Town.

Cleburne suspended business yesterday and sent three hundred of its wide-awake population to Waco, piloted by the Young Men's Business League of that town, to take part in the exercises attendant upon Cleburne Day at the Cotton Palace.

A very live goat, and a very stubborn one, was lead near the head of the parade. The goat will be taken back to Cleburne, being symbolic of the way in which Cleburne has gotten Waco's "goats" by making so great a showing that Waco will be inclined to reciprocate and attend the big carnival soon to be given in Cleburne.

C. C. Horne, grand marshal and member of the Young Men's Business League of Cleburne, followed the Santa Fe railroad band of the same town which lead the parade.

Mr. Lackman, of Cleburne, when seen after the parade, declared that Waco people would always be welcomed to Cleburne, that the gates of that city always stand ajar for the people of this city.

In the morning the Santa Fe railroad band, of Cleburne, serenaded the Morning News, the staff being treated to a number of selections.

To Go to Supreme Court.

Austin, Nov. 14.—Dr. A. B. Conley, superintendent of public buildings and grounds, says that he will have the attorney in the case of the Daughters of the Republic against him for injunction to prevent the carrying out of Governor Colquitt's plans for the restoration of the Alamo apply to the supreme court for writ of error, now that the Fourth court of civil appeals at San Antonio has sustained the Daughters in considering the case. The district court also held with them.

It is Dr. Conley's idea that the case must be carried to the court of last resort and it is this plan he will pursue.

Different—and Alone

Probably you don't know that we make a Burroughs so arranged that you can print from 1 to 9,999 automatically without depressing any keys. Particularly useful where you want to keep track of the number of items that you are putting into a machine; where you are dealing with the certain rotation of subjects and want to be able to identify the 99th item without going back and counting them, and you don't want to put yourself to the expense of printing a special form.

Just a little bit in advance in this—that is the Burroughs was. We would be glad to show you some of this kind of work to see whether it applies to something you have in mind.

ANOTHER STORY HOUR AT COTTON PALACE.

Again this afternoon at 4 o'clock, Miss Nell Whitman will tell stories to the children at the Cotton Palace. If the weather is good, the assembly will be on the lawn immediately in front of the main building. Otherwise, the pit of the coliseum will be used. On last Saturday, Miss Whitman delighted a large audience while she told the story of "The Coming of Arthur." Those who heard her will welcome this opportunity which the public library affords its juvenile patrons and friends to hear her again. All children, their mothers and teachers, as well as the general public are invited.

SEVEN PICTURES SOLD MORE WILL BE LIKELY

It is with untold satisfaction that the Mesdames J. W. Bass and Allan Sanford report seven of the good pictures from the art department of the Cotton Palace sold. These represent almost as many artists as pictures. One study alone brought three hundred dollars. Four purchasers have been found, and several others are discussing one of very meritorious pieces for their homes. This speaks well for interest locally in art. There is not a picture in all the collection not worth attention. This purchase encourages artists to send their best. It stimulates art interest here, and it fills our homes with something really good. Some pictures were sold last year but not so many as this. Mrs. Bass and Mrs. Sanford report much more study and the art department than there was last year.

THE WOMEN OF TEXAS ARE MORE THAN ACTIVE

All through our state of magnificent distances the women are now focused upon that something for public service which is their preference. The annual convention programs are all planned or planning. Of the more specifically organized bodies there are Daughters of the Revolution.

These were in annual session in Dallas last week. Waco was represented by Mrs. Edward Rotan.

Daughters of Confederacy.

This body is now in general session in Washington City. Immediately following, in Fort Worth, the first week in December, the state convention will hold. This will attest to state progress, which is their preference. The annual convention programs are all planned or planning. Of the more specifically organized bodies there are Daughters of the Revolution.

The Club Women.

The state Federation of club women by far the largest body with its ten thousand women members, will have a three days' program in Fort Worth with the coming week. Each federated club in Waco, and there are several, will have delegates besides some who are on state committees.

The Mothers' Congress.

In Houston now in session is the significant session of the Parent-Teachers' association in its annual conference. This follows a pre-arranged program which represents some of the prominent women of the nation.

The Baptist Women.

The state convention of Baptists held in Fort Worth this month. Preceding this is always a state reunion of the women of the Auxiliary for discussing methods of furthering their work. This always attracts a large body of women and Waco was included.

Active.

All this shows that the women of this state are up and doing in all that interests women's sphere. A rough estimate would place twenty thousand women represented in this aggregate. Think what a mighty force for the betterment of humanity, the voice of twenty thousand women is.

Much Local Patriotism.

And, in connection, there have been three Texas cities where the women have been an important factor in public enterprise. These are the women of Dallas with their State Fair, the women of Waco with their present Cotton Palace, and the women of Houston who are now in the midst of their grand carnival.

CALL TO THE WOMEN TO SHOW PATRIOTISM

Owing to the absence from the state of this congressional chairman, Mrs. W. E. Spell, the local committee in charge of the grand Wilson rally requests that I serve for this special day. It is now my pleasant duty to call the women of Waco to show their patriotism. They have shown it in their rally for the campaign fund. Now they must show their personal interest in the great Democratic victory. Women, many of us, are Democrats because we were born that way. Many of us are Wilson "men" because we have absorbed something by personal interest. Now, it is for us to show by our presence that we have an abiding faith in the man who is our leader for the next four years. But, seriously speaking, how many of us know the principles for which we work? How many know really the issue between the three parties? How many can independently form an idea as to whether crude manufacturers should be free or protected in our tariff schedule? How many know how Woodrow Wilson stands concerning the Child Welfare bureau, the women's vote, the pure food campaign, and other topics which vitally affect woman and her home?

The committee will introduce in the coliseum tomorrow some of the men of our state who have studied the principles of Democracy. They have studied the issue in this recent presidential campaign. They know what the election of Woodrow Wilson means to this country. It is our duty as women of this city to attend this exercise and to listen attentively to all that is said by men who know more than we on this great political situation. But, again, we owe it to local patriotism to be present in the auditorium. We should meet our guests, show those social graces in which our little city boasts, make ourselves an adjunct in the entertainment of our visitors.

So, I appeal, not to the women of Mrs. Spell's committee alone, for this is their duty. I appeal to every woman in this city, Democrat or not, to attend the exercises in the coliseum for the grand Wilson-Marshall rally. You owe it individually to your Cotton Palace to make every thing there a success. You owe it to your little city who now claims the wide-awake spirit. Must not the women as well as the men be wide awake? You owe it to yourself to seize the opportunity for acquainting yourself with the principles which have brought a crisis into the government of your country. So, one and all, spend Saturday afternoon as a participant in the grand Wilson rally at the Cotton Palace on Saturday afternoon. KATE FRIEND.

A GENUINE COROT COPY IS IN THIS CITY

It is ascertained that Mrs. J. W. Downer of South Fifth who has been an art pupil in Paris, and also has friends who have been identified with the galleries abroad, has a copy of a genuine Corot. As is known by all who are informed as regards art, Corot is an artist whose works are envied all over the world. It is true he painted only landscape. His wonderful piece, the Dance of the Nymphs, is nothing more than a bit of woodland beauty with a touch of animation in the dancing figures. But it is the woods, the atmosphere of the forest, which makes the picture great. Mrs. Downer had an artist friend who made this copy directly under the original Corot piece in the Louvre. It is something worth while for so far a removed art center as Waco.

THE CURIO BOOTH HAS MANY VISITORS

One of the interesting features in connection with the curio booth at the Cotton Palace is the pleasure taken by the chairman, Mrs. John Marshall and her assistants in showing the real historic relics. The mere fact that a piece has historic interest is assurance that it is old and worth while. It is the association which makes it of interest. The collection made by Mrs. Marshall and her committee is a revelation as to how many and what valuable relics are in Waco homes.

FARE FOR THE WOMAN WHO CAN PEN SUCCESS

Now that our Cotton Palace has touched the button of success in its every venture, why not some talented woman bring fame and fame by designing a symbol of success? We have the woman of justice weighing with her scale. We have the horn of plenty pouring from a woman's hands. We always tell a woman as the goddess of Wisdom. And so on, over in Paris, at their last exhibition, the entrance gate was very ornate. There was color and the sparkle of myriads of lights. A very successful day for the German-Americans and a very delightful display of red, white and blue-black.

With all rollicking Riesel, most of merry Moody, much of beneficent Belton, blossoming Temple, cheering Crawford, throbbing Bell and wise Williamson at the Cotton Palace, the day well might be called "Greater Waco" day.

To which the clever crowd from Cleburne undoubtedly will enter protest. It was a notable occasion of home pride and civic boost, from Limestone county to Brenham and from Waco round about.

For today we offer a striking combination: Elks and livestock, bankers and bantams, Indian bawls and lodge balls, Oklahoma rosters and Ocala royalty.

King Ocala of Sozart, for all his crooked name, can put on an exhibition as straight as the Brazos is not. Still, he is not in the fix that a king at the State Fair would be, assuming there were one. For 1913, up the way, why not try a King Sallad of Dum? The Trinity not being adapted either to a "royal approach" or to inverted spelling.

Hearty congratulations to A. Nony-mous, editor of the Cotton Palace edition of The Eddy Special, which was distributed over Waco Wednesday. His dedicatory verse declares "here we come, one thousand strong, we brought the old lady and the kids along!" Surely King Solomon had nothing on our Eddy patriarch. One thousand strong—one editor, one old lady and 998 offspring! Gracious! What part of Ireland is he from?

OVER NIGHT.

Readers of yesterday morning's Waco News may have smiled a smile or two when they read on the same page these two reports, apparently so mutually antagonistic:

"Water Supply Is of Interest."

"Pittsburg People Sell a Filter."

The smile, perhaps, would be warranted, for the former headline introduces a group of interviews with well-known (and tax-paying) Wacoans in effect advising that the source, extent and situation of this city's artesian strata should be thoroughly investigated before the water commission awarded the city's contract, on pending bids, for the erection of a filtration plant. These interviews in no uncertain terms express preference for an artesian supply, compared with the river supply—say there is actually no comparison as regards the quality of water; and express confidence in the adequacy of the artesian flow under the city and vicinity to supply Waco's mains. The interviews are brief, clear-cut and determined and the character of the men voicing them commands respect for the views which consider, and have at heart, the best interests of the community wherein is every personal and business interest of the speakers.

This would not criticize the water commission for its action, apart from the fact that its award came with rather surprising haste immediately after agitation in Waco concerning the flow tapped at Bell's Hill, and many opinions as to the city's artesian resources, had become so wide-spread and emphatic that surely the commission must have recognized the existence of a public situation demanding investigation, in the best interests of the public. Nor, unless the artesian resources investigation shall develop a condition of things more favorable to this city than the purchase of a filtration plant—in short, unless it is shown this city need not depend on river water for domestic uses—we will not say the commission acted precipitately as to the award actually made, or has thrown good money after bad. The bond fund to purchase such a plant, among other incidents of the city's water supply, is now of long standing; some thousands of dollars have been spent in connection with the site for the plant and necessary machinery contracts practically have been assured. A filtration plant is by no means a new proposition for Waco.

But in awarding the contract at the very time public opinion in Waco tends to require a thorough investigation of the possibility of a better water supply than that obtainable from the river via the filtration plant; at a time when business men quite as capable, and almost as closely in touch with the water supply situation, as the members of the commission, are urging the city to examine, that its residents may have the best treatment possible; when there is general confidence and encouragement resulting from the splendid flow of artesian water lately brought in—we feel we are within justice in saying that the water commission did act precipitately in making any award at all, Wednesday night. The problem calling for a filtration plant was not in demand of solution over-night. It has been before the city for months. A brief delay incident to an investigation of the artesian situation would not have injured the city very seriously, or would it have bankrupted the Pittsburg Filter company.

And it would seem the water commission, judged from the reception given the announcement of the award, Wednesday night, after a deciding session behind closed doors, will be accorded a souvenir of that same award of rather more consequence than this newspaper protest. It is fair to emphasize that the award, at this time, is contrary to the views and desires of the most public-spirited and sensible business and residence owners of Waco.

A few days after the results at Bell's Hill, we printed an interview with H. G. Johnson, a contractor of the American Well Prospecting company, to the effect that he would guarantee to obtain ten million gallons of artesian water daily for Waco, for an upset price of $100,000. In this interview with citizens, printed yesterday, confidence was expressed in Mr. Johnson's ability and honesty. This is but one of the features to which we call attention—a chance that now may be indefinitely delayed, if not ousted altogether, as far as definite ascertainment of the practical merit of the proposition is concerned. We are not enthusiastic for these overnight, closed door actions of public administrators. We have demonstrated beyond question our opposition to executive sessions by public officials on any board or in any department. We take some pleasure in realizing that the moribund ideas of "privacy" entertained by the Waco school board are now being given public sterilizing by the president-elect of the United States, who declares no public official has the right to close his office doors to the people who made him trustee of their affairs.

In spite of the water commission's select and secret seance resulting in the purchase of a filtration plant for $85,000, with further heavy expense to come, the progressive taxpayers of Waco and The Morning News will continue to advocate a thorough testing of the extent of artesian flow under the city. We again advise it would be wise to investigate Mr. Johnson's guarantee. Mr. Johnson believes that Waco has just now reached the Trinity on Bell's Hill, and "the same sands can be reached by drilling in the lowlands of the city proper, at less distance than is necessary when drilling on the heights about the city." We repeat that Mr. Johnson represents a responsible concern, he has affiliations that will bond his guarantee, and if he can put pure artesian water into city mains he will accomplish a benefit to all the people.

THE TARIFF SESSION.

The first compilation of views of Democratic leaders, in Congress and out of it, as to the necessity and expediency of an extra session of congress immediately Mr. Wilson takes office, to fulfill promises of tariff revision long-delayed, comes with excellent judgment and dependable informativeness from The Mobile Item of Tuesday. The entire product of opinion, save the replies of Messrs. Bryan, McCombs and Mann, who withhold comment because, no doubt, of their reluctance to appear to be offering suggestions in advance of the president-elect's announcement on the subject, is emphatically in favor of the extra session at the earliest possible moment after the inauguration. This stresses the already wide-spread opinion that a "tariff session" is indispensable; that the Democracy owes immediate action to the nation, and it is expected. Coming from Alabama, home of Representative Underwood, the Democratic leader in the tariff reform movement. The Item's enterprise is commendable and its selection well worth the reading.

The editorial survey is based on the fact that: "President-elect Wilson is reported as having his mind open on the question of calling an extra session of congress next year to revise the tariff and to be regardless of the opinion of Mr. Underwood in this matter. Mr. Underwood, who, as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the house, is the most powerful Democrat in congress, has given his opinion in the following telegram:

"The Democratic party is pledged to an immediate downward revision of the tariff. This promise must be fulfilled in order to relieve the consumer of the country from many unjust and burdensome duties. The customs duties are interwoven with a large part of the commercial and manufacturing business of the country. Uncertainty as to what changes will be made in the customs taxes may delay business development. In my judgment, in the interest of both the consumer and the manufacturer, all uncertainty should be avoided by immediate action of congress in an extra session.

If Mr. Wilson will be influenced by the position of Mr. Underwood, as indicated in an Associated Press despatch, he should remove all uncertainty as to the extra session for the purpose of tariff revision.

Democratic leaders outside of congress are inclined for the present to withhold their opinion about the extra session.

William Jennings Bryan says: I do not care to discuss the subject at this time.

William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee: I do not care to go into the matter at this time.

William Hodges Mann, governor of Virginia: I am decidedly of opinion that the advisability of calling an extra session of congress should be left with the president without suggestion.

Considering the positive attitude taken by these three leaders on the tariff subject during the recent campaign, their present hesitancy is disappointing. Contrasted with the position of active members of congress, who have expressed themselves on the subject, the temporizing of Mr. Bryan and the Democratic national chairman is especially surprising.

A. Mitchell Palmer, Pennsylvania member of the ways and means committee has said:

The Democratic party should fulfill its promises to the American people with all diligence. I am strongly in favor of an extra session of congress to be called soon after the inauguration, which should be devoted to the consideration of tariff legislation.

New Jersey: I hope an extra session will be called immediately and pass the most important tariff measures. This will remove uncertainty for business interests and doubt as to the sincerity of the Democrats.

William A. Jones, Virginia, chairman of the committee on insular affairs: In my judgment, congress should be called in extra session as soon after March 4 next, as practicable for the purpose of carrying into effect the pledges of the Democratic party in respect to the tariff and other important subjects.

Edward W. Saunders, Virginia, member of the committee on appropriations: An extra session is altogether likely. Whatever legislation there is going to be ought to be hurried for and put through as quickly as possible.

John J. Garner, member from Texas: The Democrats will now control the house, and have their candidate in the presidential chair as well. They should revise the tariff at the earliest possible date.

John J. Fitzgerald, New York, chairman of the committee on appropriations: There should be an extra session. The question of the tariff should be disposed of as quickly as possible.

Texas Viewpoints

Once Glorious.

Senator Corral has been severely criticised on account of his support of the administrative methods which made ex-President Diaz extremely unpopular during the close of his official career, and undoubtedly he was not without his faults, but it should be said for his credit that he possessed exceptional ability, a great ambition, high ideals and was an earnest worker in whatever engaged his attention. His greatest work was not as a statesman so much as a literary man. When but 21 years old he was the publisher of two newspapers in his native state, both of which were successful. Quitting these, he wrote a history of the state of Sonora, and shortly afterward published two or three works of fiction.—San Antonio Express.

This comment is from an able editorial concerning the life and services of the late Ramon Corral, sometime vice-president of the Republic of Mexico. In its extensive acquaintance with and intimate relation to the neighboring nation, The Express can, and frequently does, supply interesting and illuminating resume of governmental and political conditions across the Rio Grande, particularly in the Mexican federal district. We have detached this paragraph in view of the fact that the "criticism" the San Antonio editor notes lately has given generally to a lament that men of the stamp of Porfirio Diaz and Ramon Corral are not at hand to apply more of the "administrative methods" of the former to the miserable order of things now obtaining throughout the length and breadth of Mexico. There has been hardly more than an occasional flash of latent, manly strength from the present president of the Republic, who struggled so hard for his chair. It is urged "Madero has not been given a chance to make good; the country has been in a constant state of revolution and anarchy" since the revolution on the crest of which he was swept into office. Well, neither was Diaz "given a chance"—he made his own chance time after time, as he made the nation; made it not the poor place to live and be loyal to it now, but infinitely better than ever it was in his own prime. Its defects now are merely the defects of the men affecting to govern it, for the simplest Mexican knows his country cannot have peace and prosperity without a strong hand to suppress the enemies of established government, without which there can be no peace and prosperity. A certain class of Mexicans always will be thugs, brigands and traitors and they must have an executioner, as well as a judge. When such stuff of "Barbarous Mexico" appeared in print, friends of the Republic raised hands in outraged horror at its "untruth." What is the answer to Mexico's present rottenness and weakness in failing to quiet its states? Isn't it the lack of strong men in the government, the army, the police? We would try to forget the criticisms of the treatment deemed imperative by Diaz, by Corral and by the men they trusted to serve and to build. Do present conditions justify less stringent cure? Diaz is one of the four great men living in the twentieth century.

The Young Men's Business League of Cleburne will take a trip to Waco for the purpose of getting acquainted and cultivating better business conditions between Cleburne and the big town mentioned in connection therewith.—Palestine Record.

"The big town mentioned in connection with Cleburne! Cleburne is live, likable and leaping, we cheerfully grant, for we have just received a visit from several wily delegates clad in dusters, canvas signs and booster adornments of infinite variety, and with such an aggregation to represent her at the Cotton Palace Cleburne must grow! But let its rosters be never so full of boasting, business and—no! we were not going to say it even for alliteration's sake—"billy, they will be the first to admit that it is good for the big town of Cleburne to grow up to the big city of Waco, and that Palestine can do worse than to follow the example of the Johnson county wide-awakes!"

Spirited Tribune.

Press Day at the Cotton Palace was one which will be long and pleasantly remembered by the members of the newspaper fraternity who were present on that occasion. Beginning with an informal reception at the Elks hall, at which address were made by Homer D. Wade of Stamford, President W. H. Hoffmann of the Texas Cotton Palace, Hon. A. B. McCullum of the Waco Tribune, and W. C. Edwards, president of the State Press association, the press were then given an auto ride over the city, and a luncheon at the Cotton Palace.

In the evening, the visiting press were invited to participate in the mammoth procession which ended at the Palace grounds with the address delivered by Governor O. B. Colquhoun, formally opening the Cotton Palace.

While the Cotton Palace is not the biggest show in Texas, it is undoubtedly the best for its size. The buildings are handsome, and in their decoration fittingly represent King Cotton. The exhibits of produce, livestock, agricultural products, educational institutions, mercantile establishments, machinery, etc., are all well selected and commendably displayed. The Warpath attractions are such as will appeal to young and old who enjoy the jollity of life. In the minds of many the crowning feature of the entertainment is that of the famous Kyril band.

It is a credit to the city and the friends of the Republic that this statement is made subsequent to the election the paragraphs' union nevertheless resents it and in convention assembled, Jim Carlisle, secretary, declares renewed faith in Woodrow Wilson and is for him regardless of the charge.—Austin Statesman.

REBELS ANSHUH FEDERALS.

Battle Results in Several Killed Near Serrano, Mexico.

Mexico City, Nov. 14.—One hundred federals on their way from Puebla to the state of Mexico to the relief of Tepeji, thirty miles to the south, are menaced by Zapatistas, who ambushed them at Serrano, Mexico. Trainmen report that the federals lost twelve men killed and five others are pressed hard.

Six hundred rebels under Turiste Morales attacked Huachila, state of Puebla, which was defended by rural guards. Most of the defenders with the commander, Jose Roscoe, went over to the rebels. Roscoe was made a colonel in the rebel ranks.

Managements have been reported at various other points, the federals winning with few casualties.

Discovery of Bullets in Chair Shows Its Course.

Wytheville, Va., Nov. 14.—All doubt as to whether certain shots fired in the chair occupied by Judge Thornton L. Massey at the time he was slain, was made by a bullet, was removed today in the trial of Sidney Allen, when the excruciating evidence was shown that the bullet had taken out the bullet found.

In this the defense sees support of its theory that Judge Massey was killed by one of the court officers and not by one of the Allen's. It is claimed the bullet must have been fired from that corner of the room in which court officers were standing.

Witness Declares Hunting Trip Escape Brought Out Facts of Los Angeles Times Explosion.

Indianapolis, Nov. 14.—For the first time since the twenty-one persons were killed in the blowing up of the Los Angeles Times building on Oct. 1, 1910, J. B. McNamara's detailed confession to having caused the explosion with his motives for doing it and his comments on the fact that so many people were killed, was related on the witness stand in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today.

Otis E. McManigal testified the confession was given to him while he was hiding McNamara in the woods five miles from Conover, Wis., both of them having gone to the Wisconsin woods on the pretext of being hunters.

Claf A. Tveitmo and Eugene L. Clancy, San Francisco labor leaders, McManigal testified, were named by McNamara as having made arrangements for the Los Angeles explosion and as having furnished the two men with a car. McNamara also testified to assist in buying the high-powered nitroglycerine, "because Schmitt and Clancy had been regularly employed on the Los Angeles Times building and as having furnished the two men with a car. McNamara said that on Nov. 5, 1910, he was at his home in Chicago and expected to leave the next day for Kenosha, Wis., whence he was to start with a hunting party in Chicago when J. J. McNamara, brother of the Los Angeles Times dynamiter, asked him to take James R. on the hunting trip.

NOT BEFORE JANUARY FIRST

New Orders of Commission Cannot Be Made Effective Until After Holidays.

Austin, Nov. 14.—It is thought that the railroad commission will not put its switching charge absorption order into effect before January 1. The date has not yet been formally agreed to, but the first of the year seems to be the likeliest choice of the commission. Shippers will not long have to pay switching charges either on competitive or non-competitive business, the absorption being complete down to $7.50 a car. Industrial tracks will thus benefit down to the $7.50 point.

In abolishing joint line express rates, it seems that nearly all of the express tariffs may have to be revised on account of the number of exceptions prescribing different minimum earnings for each joint line haul. This being the case, it is very probable that the abolition of joint line rates will not come before the first of the year also. It is thought that very likely the commission will leave the matter of adjustments of divisions on joint line shipments to the several express companies for settlement. They can provide a scale of division rates.

It now seems that the Christmas shipments will be handled by the express companies this year under the present arrangements. About the only way the rates can be put into effect sooner will be for the commission to make a sweeping order eliminating the exceptions in the present tariffs.

Robertson, San Benito; Richard Kiebert, Kingsville; Martin Phillips, Riviera; P. H. Hansen, Robt. Schwandt, Chicago, Ill.

Lumber Rates to Start.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Existing freight rates on lumber for export between points in Louisiana and New Orleans were today by the Interstate Commerce commission today to be not discriminatory or unreasonable. Rates on staves for export from points in Arkansas to New Orleans were reduced from 20 to 18 cents a hundred pounds. A reduction was ordered on the rate on brick from points in Kansas to destinations in Arkansas from 27 to 25 cents a hundred pounds.

Banana Rates Reduced.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The Interstate Commerce Commission held today in the case of Davidson Brothers against the Louisville and Nashville railroad and other carriers that the rate of 75 cents a hundred pounds for transportation of bananas from New Orleans to Glasgow and other Kentucky points was unreasonable and ordered it reduced to 50 cents.

The testimony showed that both Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Raine raised white Plymouth Rock chickens and that they allowed their fowls to run at large.

After deliberating two hours the jury returned a verdict of not guilty basing their decision on the presumption that the poultry of the two women living so close together might become mixed without the connivance of either owner.

MYSTERY IN DALLAS TAFT ENTERTAINS U. O. OF C.

MAN FOUND DEAD HAS LETTERS OF MCGREGOR BOY IN HIS POCKETS.

Robert Lane Leaves for That City in an Effort to Locate His Son, Who

Dallas, Nov. 14.—His cold form spattered with his own blood, his skull laid open at the base of the brain and with another wound on the side of the head, the body of an unidentified man was found lying in the bed of Combs creek, about fifty feet from Lancaster avenue and about one hundred yards from the West Dallas pike at an early hour this morning.

A search of the premises revealed the gruesome discovery of a pool of blood by the fence, indicating that the first blow was struck there and the body was thrown over the fence. Signs also showed that the body was brutally dragged to the bed of the creek and thrown face downward.

Sheriff Brandenburg and every available deputy went immediately to the scene and searched every possible place to discover some clue that would lead to the arrest of the perpetrators of the crime. Under the nearby bridge a shirt, collar and tie, three pictures and three postcards were found. Whether these have any connection with the case is not known.

On the person of the man was found $3.70, a shoe button and a cigar. The pockets were not turned out, the general belief of the officers is that robbery was the motive for the horrible crime.

Dead for Several Hours.
Every indication showed that the man had been dead for several hours. Although the limbs were not yet stiff, other indications showed that the killing had occurred several hours before. Officers believe that robbery was the cause and declare in their belief that the two one-dollar bills and the change was left in the man's pocket as a blind.

The man was apparently about forty years of age. He was neatly dressed. His trousers, shirt and shoes evidently had been worn only a short time. There were no marks on these to show from whom they had been purchased. His undershirt was marked "V. P." but no other marks were found on his clothing.

He wore a light brown mustache, a thin coat of hair and was about five feet and ten inches high. Indications also showed that he was either a baker or a cook. His hands were very smooth and showed no signs of having been accustomed to hard labor.

Surveyors Discover Body.
The dead body was found by Dixon B. Penick, A. F. Buchanan and J. F. Nelson, members of the government surveying crew, working in that vicinity. The form was lying in plain view of Lancaster avenue. The head was literally a cake of blood and the man's brains had fallen to the ground, some streaming down the back.

As soon as the discovery was made, Sheriff Brandenburg, Deputies Chiesa, Elmo Strait, W. H. Belt and John Woolsey rushed to the scene in an automobile.

Shortly before noon another search of the premises by Deputies Chiesa and Bolton found a shirt, collar and tie under the nearby bridge. The tie showed it had been purchased from S. W. Ellis of McGregor. The photograph of two women and a little girl, about three years old also were found. Three postal cards were enclosed in the bundle. Whether these were the property of the dead man has not been discovered. One of the postcards was addressed to "Mr. Robert Lane, Box 86, McGregor, Tex." Another was addressed to "R. W. Lane, 701 Columbus street, Waco, Texas," and the third was addressed to "Martha Lane, McGregor, Texas." This was signed by "Willie." One of the other cards was signed "Bertha," while the third was unsigned.

Officers are of the opinion that the murder occurred about midnight Wednesday night.

Was a Secluded Spot.
The place where the crime was committed is several hundred yards from a building of any kind and in the heart of a heavily timbered section of the creek. Late at night that portion of Lancaster avenue is not traveled to any great extent and it is possible for the murder to have been committed earlier in the night. The body was lying in plain view of passersby why it was not reported sooner to the sheriff's office is not understood, as it was about 3 o'clock before there was any report made. As soon as the surveying party made the discovery, they went to the sheriff's office, and the investigation was begun.

Lane Is Known in Waco.
McGregor is a tip-top, awaiting the final solution of the mystery which surrounds the finding of a dead man in Dallas on whose person were letters and cards known to have been possessed by 19-year-old R. W. Lane, who went there from Waco a few days ago. The man found dead could, by no stretch of the imagination, fill the description of the boy, who now cannot be found.

What was the connection between the two?

Unable to answer the question himself, Robert Lane, of McGregor, left last night for Dallas, where he will search for his son. The only address he has relative to the whereabouts of the boy is Dallas, "General Delivery." Where he is rooming, where he takes his meals, or what he has been doing since he left the boarding house of Mrs. M. L. Powers, 701 Columbus street, Waco, is as much a mystery to the parents of the youngster as it was to the Dallas police yesterday.

According to Mrs. Powers, Lane left Waco last Monday, and she understood that he was going to Dallas to go on the road for an automobile concern.

At McGregor, through the postmaster of that place, it was learned that Robert Lane, father of the boy, had taken the afternoon train for Dallas and would institute a search there for his son.

The dead man is described by the dispatches to be apparently about 35 years of age, wearing a stubby brown mustache and being bald headed.

On his person were found postcards addressed to "Robert Lane, Box 86, McGregor, Texas" and one to "R. W. Lane, 701 Columbus street, Waco, Texas," while still another was to "Martha Lane, McGregor, Texas," and one of them was signed "Bertha."

R. W. Lane, of McGregor, son of Robert Lane, was a boy of 19 years of age. He had dark hair and had no mustache.

How the man found dead just outside the city limits in the bed of Combs Creek could have had the letters and papers belonging to the McGregor boy in the puzzle which confronts the latter's friends.

Women Attending Meeting at Washington Received at White House. Many Receptions Held.

Washington, Nov. 14.—A brilliant series of social functions, centering about a reception by President Taft, marked today's session of the convention of the Daughters of the Confederacy. The president received nearly 1,000 of the daughters in the east room of the white house. He was assisted by Mrs. Taft and as the visitors filed by the president had a hearty handshake and a word of greeting.

A score of receptions, teas and dinners for various groups of the daughters were given by Washington society women. Mrs. Marion Butler, president of the District of Columbia division of the daughters, entertained the general officers of the organization at dinner.

Today's business sessions were confined largely to reports of officers and committees. The convention accepted two general scholarships, one from Chicago University and one from Loyola University of Kentucky, in connection with the report of the duration committee.

A decision in the matter of extending the time for the issuing of crosses of honor to Confederate veterans which aroused a storm on the floor of the convention, was postponed, while pending the reports of various committees on the recommendations of the general officers on the subject.

Tomorrow the delegates to the convention will visit the naval academy at Annapolis and will be the guests of Governor Goldsborough of Maryland.

The convention enthusiastically received the report of Mrs. Roy McKinney, recording secretary general, which recorded the accession of fifty-six new chapters. These are distributed as follows:

Virginia, twelve; Texas, six; District of Columbia, one; Mississippi, seven; Georgia, five; Tennessee, four; New York, one; Colorado, one; Missouri, three; Kentucky, two; South Carolina, seven; Florida, one; Illinois, one; Maryland, one; Arkansas three; Alabama, one.

During the year 4502 certificates of membership were issued.

3 GUNMEN GIVE CRIME VERSION

"Did you know whom they were shooting at?"

"No; they never said a word to any of us about croaking Rosenthal."

Admits Serving Time.
On cross-examination "Whitey" admitted having served terms in Elmira reformatory and Sing Sing for larceny. He did not go by his real name, he said, because he was a thief and did not want to disgrace his family.

"Whitey" said that when he was arrested in Sullivan county, he was about to give himself up. He gave as his reason for not telling Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty that Webber and Vallon had fired at Rosenthal, the same explanation as made by "Gyp."

"Dougherty wanted a lot of lies," he said. "He did not want the truth." "Lefty Louie" Rosenberg, was the third of the gunmen to take the stand. He corroborated the stories of his co-defendants in all important features.

The reason, he said, Jack Rose wanted "Whitey" and himself to come around to the Metropole on the night of the murder was to "meet the cops, who would prove that he (Rose) had nothing to do with framing up on Zelig."

Revolvers Exhibited.
The jury and spectators leaned forward with breathless interest when Assistant District Attorney Moss produced two pearl-handled revolvers and handed them to the witness.

"Did you ever see those guns before?"

"Yes; they were taken out of my trunk while I was away."

"After the murder?"

"Yes."

"Will you say whether that revolver was fired on July 14?" asked Mr. Moss, pointing to the larger of the two.

"Positively not."

"Lefty" said a friend bought the weapons for 75 cents and that the only time he ever used them was when he held them in his hand to have his picture taken in cowboy costume.

Adjournment until tomorrow was announced by the court.

During the recent session of the British Trade Union congress compulsory arbitration of trade disputes was strongly opposed.

HOW IT MIGHT HAPPEN. I.

DID NOT WAIT
FOR CAR TO STOP
BEFORE GETTING OFF.

Suppose it were you? A long time spent in repairing your body. Expense! Perhaps death TOMORROW.

What difference would it make that you had got off moving cars safely—"over a thousand times?" That fact would not remove your pain, heal your skin, wipe the blood out of your eyes or pay the doctor's bill. It would not bring back health. Or comfort your family if you were buried.

Why not let the "thousand times" be enough.

Once more?—It might be the last time! Your fault. "Wait till the car stops"—actually STOPS.

Say this to your wife or husband, your children, your pupils or employees. If they met death because you had not cautioned them you would blame yourself all your life.

DECLINE AT OPENING IS FOLLOWED BY A SHARP ADVANCE.

Improvement Partly Lost Before the Close—Local Crop Estimate of 14,625,000 Is Published.

New York, Nov. 14.—An opening decline in the cotton market was followed by a sharp advance today but the improvement was partly lost in the late trading and the close was barely steady with last prices showing a net gain of only 2 to 7 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 6 to 10 points under overnight selling orders and in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables. There was a steady, active demand around the initial figures, much of which seemed to come from leading spot interests, and prices very soon firmed up. Covering by early sellers and large Wall Street shorts added to the rapidity of the advance during the middle of the day and at one time the active months showed net gains of from 10 to 17 points.

A local crop estimate of 14,625,000 was published at mid-day without any immediate effect on prices, but rumors of bearish ginning returns were a factor late in the day and the market sold off rather sharply during the last hour.

Closing prices showed reactions of 5 to 10 points.

Private cables attributed the decline in Liverpool to continued liquidation and reports that prominent London statisticians were to issue a bearish circular accompanying a crop estimate of 14,500,000 bales. On the other hand, it was rumored that the central belt authority estimated the crop below 14,000,000 bales. It was rumored toward the close that the National Ginners' report would show 10,150,000 bales ginned to November 14.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, Nov. 14.—Cotton futures opened steady at a loss of 8 to 12 points on lower cables than day. The weather here was very favorable, as it reflected bright and warm weather nearly everywhere in the cotton region. Selling was heavy around the first call, but a good demand sprang up among the short sellers of yesterday and this checked the downward movement. At the lowest in the early trading prices were 11 to 12 points down. At the end of the first half hour of business prices were five to seven points down.

The market received good support from the middle of the morning. What appeared to be an authentic crop estimate of 14,500,000 bales accompanied by a bearish circular, was given the market as coming from a noted London firm, but while this increased bearish sentiment, it caused bulls to rebuff their bids and prices actually advanced sharply after its receipt. At noon the trading months were 11 to 12 points over yesterday's close.

Cotton futures steady, unchanged to 7 points up, compared with the close of yesterday.

PEACE HINTS FROM EUROPE OCCASION SEVERAL BREAKS IN THE MARKET.

Commission Houses Absorb Supply. Corn and Oats Decline While Provisions Go Up.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Wheat prices today broke under the season's low record of 24 hours before. Hope of early peace in Europe was chiefly responsible. At the close a feeling of steadiness prevailed, but the market showed a net decline of 3/4c to 1c. Corn finished 3/4c down, oats off 1/4c to 3/4c and provisions varying from 5c down to an advance of 17 1/2c.

Waning of hostilities with Turkey affected wheat through the stoppage of exports from this side of the Atlantic and because of speculative sales here by foreigners. As a result, discouraged longs threw much of their property overboard and short sellers put on pressure.

Commission houses absorbed wheat on the decline and prevented any worse drop.

Latest trading in corn was at the lowest price of the season. Increasing receipts and improved quality had much to do with weakening the market and the break in wheat did the rest. Cash grades were slow.

Oats eased off on account of a predicted liberal increase in stocks.

Shorts, who had been hammering provisions, turned to the buying side after an announcement that packing in the west for the week amounted to nearly a quarter of a million less hogs than a year ago. There was an irregular close, which averaged about the same as last night.

MARKET EXPERIENCES NEAR DULLNESS ONLY AT SHORT PERIODS.

Total Output Increases and Trading Is Broader and Professional—War News Benefits Activity.

New York, Nov. 14.—In most essentials today's stock market was a repetition of the preceding day's session. Irregularity was pronounced and there were frequent periods of dullness, albeit the total output was larger. Trading was broader, but plainly professional, some of the speculation running into issues supposed to be manipulated by pools.

Further clearing of the European war clouds was an important factor, the initial rise of 1 to 2 points being a natural sequence of the strong London market, despite the increasing firmness in money and discounts at that center.

Private cables from London and Paris suggested resumption of buyers for consumers, which probably accounted in large measure for the strength of those shares.

Bonds were irregular and dealings light. Total sales par value $1,557,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

LIVESTOCK.

Fort Worth.

Fort Worth, Nov. 14.—The cattle market languished for lack of a full class of supplies. Bulls and steers were steady, the feature of the young stuff being the sale of nine loads of southern calves at $6.75.

After some wrestling over what would be the level of prices, traders finally agreed that hogs were selling on a steady basis. The receipts were very uneven as to quality, the proportion of good hogs being small. The best hogs sold from $7.70 to $8.07 1/2 and the light end had a range of $7.35 to $7.60.

Sheep and lambs sold on a steady basis, the former, two decks of wet 40-pound lambs, cashing at $4.20, and the latter, mixed with yearlings, going at $5.35.

BLACK LYNCHED BY POSSE.

Negro Shot to Pieces in Woods for Double Murder.

Ocala, Fla., Nov. 14.—Unusual methods were employed here today in the lynching of "Preach" Neils, the negro arrested for the murder of Mary Stevenson, aged 18, and her grandfather, J. B. Bergees, aged 80, at McIntosh yesterday.

After taking him from the jail, the mob escorted him to the outskirts of town. There he was set free and told to "beat it." After he had run a few steps he was literally shot to pieces.

The bodies of his victims were buried today. A negro boy and girl were arrested at McIntosh charged with complicity in the double murder.

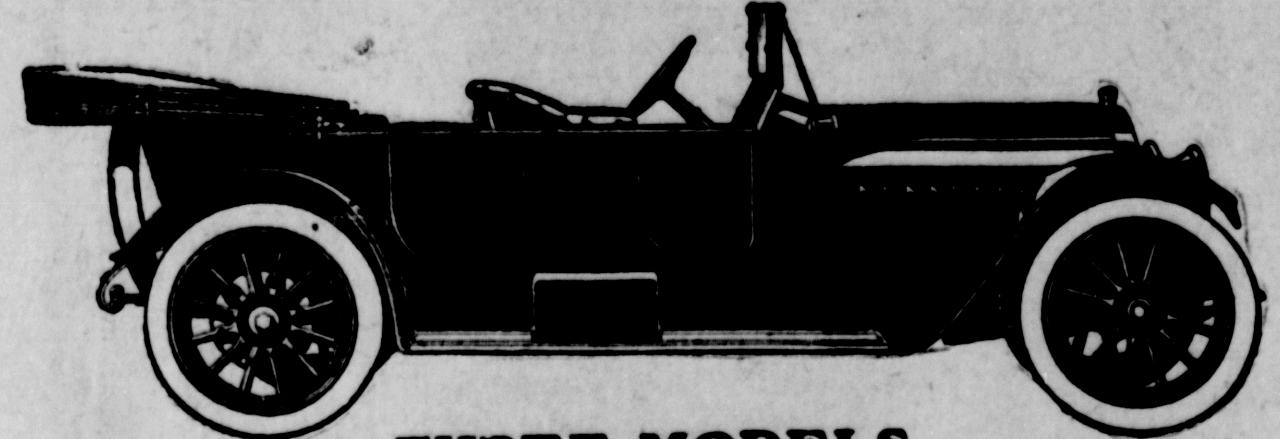

Eleven Believed Drowned.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 14.—Eleven persons probably perished when the steamboat Mayflower went down Tuesday night in the Madawaska river. The three survivors are so weak that they can tell little about how the accident occurred. They were found last night half frozen on an island three miles below where the boat sank.

TO RAISE BONUS FOR THE HOTEL

COMMITTEE WILL START MONDAY MORNING TO SECURE CASH SUBSCRIPTIONS.

NO PROMISES TO BE MADE

Location and Individuals Are Not to Be a Consideration of the Obligation—Reply to Riggins.

Monday morning will commence the committee work to raise the bonus of $50,000 which is to be offered to the man or men, company or corporation, agreeing to build and equip in this city a hotel suitable for the needs of the time.

While there is general opposition to giving a bonus to bring enterprises to the city the hotel project is looked upon in a different light. It will not only require a big investment, but it will take time to construct and furnish the building. Whoever accepts the offer and builds the hotel will have the outlay for the land, the expenditure necessary to construct the building and furnish it, and during about twelve months time he will lose the interest on the investment. The people are willing to put up that $50,000 in order to encourage the coming of that much capital.

The bonus is to be solicited by the committee from the joint directorate of the Waco Business Men's club and the Young Men's Business League. No promises are to be made as to location or as to individuals. The people who contribute the bonus will have to put their faith in the responsible men who control the working organizations that are looking after the commercial growth of the city.

So far there has been one acceptance of the bonus offer—that from J. W. Riggins. Other offers are expected to be made, and pending the time when the bonus has been fully subscribed and other propositions are received, the Riggins offer is in the hands of the committee. After all offers have been received, they will be considered in detail each upon its merits, and against the other as is the custom in the consideration of high and low bids, and whichever in the judgment of the committee is the best for Waco, that one will be accepted.

Reply to Riggins.

The committee has made this reply to Mr. Riggins:

Hon. J. W. Riggins,
Waco, Texas.
Dear Sir:

We beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor direct and through the press, stating that you will accept the bonus and build a hotel commensurate with Waco's needs.

We are exceedingly anxious to have such hotel by next Cotton Palace opening and we trust you will have your proposition in concrete form with detailed plans and specifications as soon after the bonus is raised as practical, when we will give your proposition due consideration along with other propositions we expect to have at that time.

We expect to raise the bonus by next Saturday week.

Thanking you for your assurances and your enterprise, we beg to remain
Yours very truly,
E. W. MARSHALL,
President Business Men's Club.
JOHN F. WRIGHT,
Pres. Young Men's Business League

NO CHANCE FOR CROOKS.

Police Kept Close Watch on the Jewels at Society Ball.

The "gang" reported to be in Waco to work the Cotton Palace is meeting with little success, according to the reports made to the police. With the exception of a few burglaries of private residences and a few cases of pickpockets the police have not been called on to investigate any serious losses.

It was reported that a number of accomplished pickpockets were at the Cotton Palace grounds Tuesday night to work during the society ball. So far no theft has been reported. A number of plain clothes men from the Waco police department and from police departments that have sent men here to assist the local officers watched every entrance and exit closely.

One suspicious character who was seen mingling with the crowd near the box seats disappeared when he discovered the officers spotting him.

The police recognized the brilliant opportunity for a professional to make a "cleaning" and they took no chances. Nearly every man who was seen mingling in the affair wore a diamond pin, brooch or necklace, and some represented vast sums of money. Seldom has there been a more brilliant display of diamonds than at the society ball.

No strangers were among those who participated, and the officers had only to guard from outside interference. A few years ago at the Confederate Veterans reunion in Memphis, a "gang" of professionals made away with several thousand dollars worth of jewelry during a society ball.

May Be Artesian Mass Meet To Discuss Water Supply

People Aroused to Importance of Question and Want to Crystallize a Sentiment that Will Influence Water Commission—Bond Money to be Spent Voted by the People.

There are millions of gallons of water going to waste in the city of Waco. The Artesian well on Bell's Hill and hundreds of people are going to the well site every day to watch the progress of the work.

There is a strong sentiment throughout the city that is in favor of using some influence upon the members of the Waco water commission to get them to take some steps to investigate the artesian supply to see if it can be made permanent in order that it can be put into the water mains of the city and be the complete water supply of Waco. Yesterday there was talk of a mass meeting which will be called for Tuesday night of next week, or some night directly following, to discuss the proposition, and select a man to fill the vacancy on the water commission who is in favor of taking advantage of the water supply that comes from nature's storage tank, and present this name to the mayor, asking that he be appointed. Whether the mass meeting will develop is not yet known, but it is being urged, and will be taken up again today. The largest tax payers in Waco have expressed their ideas on the artesian well question. Yesterday the Morning News quoted, by authority, Sam Sanger, Ed. Rotan, R. T. Dennis, J. M. Penland, R. R. Milam, J. Levinson, J. W. Riggins and others who were emphatic in their ideas that some investigation should be made by those who are in charge of the water department. Yesterday, Mayor Moore had a long talk with Chairman William Sleeper of the water commission, endeavoring to convince him that the artesian supply is to be had, but so far the water commission has taken no steps to ascertain what can be done.

People Voted Bond Money.
There are funds at the disposal of the water commission which were created by a bond issue, that bond issue being voted by the people of Waco. The people who were for the bond issue, to improve the water system and by whose votes the money was secured, are as enthusiastic in regard to the prospects for artesian water as they were earnest advocates of the bond issue. The mayor has not yet filled the vacancy on the water commission created by the resignation of George C. Robinson, and it is understood that a petition will be signed within the next few days asking Mr. Mackey to name a man who favors artesian water and who will go into the commission prepared to urge that some effort be made to develop the artesian supply.

Water Cannot Remove Chemicals.
R. N. McKnight said yesterday: "They can buy all the filters they want to, but they will not improve the chemical condition of the water, but the filter, and the rocks, but it will not get out the chemicals—it won't get out the gyp, and the gyp in that water will ruin the stomach of any man in the world. The filter won't make it safe to drink, so it can be used for washing purposes. If we can get artesian water from the bowels of the earth in sufficient quantities, it will be pure. I think the water commission is making a mistake not to investigate the artesian supply."

Commissioners for Artesian.
City Commissioner T. A. Caulfield believes the artesian water supply can be had. He is very much interested in the question.

Yesterday City Commissioner Gorman and City Engineer Byars and Engineer Burt from the city engineer's office went to the well site to investigate the artesian flow. Mr. Gorman wanted to measure the output of the well, and Mr. Wright went out to look at the result of the drilling. He had opposed the contract with the Waco Hot Well Development Company, believing there would be no flow of water obtained. Since there has been a flow, he says that many people have been questioning him about it, and he wanted to see for himself.

"I know the people are interested in the water question, from the many questions asked me every day, and I want to look at the well so as to talk intelligently about it. It is a great water supply. It ought to be in the water mains of the city and if there is more of it to be had, it ought to be secured."

Commissioner Gorman said: "I am satisfied this is a stronger flow of water than was in the Bell wells when they were drilled. I am very much interested in the artesian water strike that has been made."

To Measure the Flow.
City Engineer Byars did not complete his investigations as to the volume of the flow from the well. It was found hard to impound the water so as to direct the flow through the pipe that he had constructed, and he will today make another weir and locate it at another place.

Many ladies are visiting the well site to look at the water flow and to drink the hot water. Many bring their own cups with them and drink it as it comes from the well at a temperature of 107 degrees.

George V. Rotan was one of the visitors at the well yesterday. He joined in the appeal of other citizens who have expressed themselves that some effort should be made to ascertain just how much water can be had, and whether it can be used for the city supply.

Filter Men Anxious.
The representative of the filter company who made his demands on the water commission Wednesday night and threatened to file suit yesterday, did not make good his threat during the day. As was stated in the Morning News yesterday, the apparently unreasonable demands which were made before the water commission, had the appearance of being well staged and rehearsed. The filter men who were for the contract had heard during Monday afternoon of the artesian well flow and they were anxious to get the filter contract closed before the people had expressed themselves so strongly that the water commission would hold up on the expenditure. The filter men with whom the Morning News talked Wednesday are certain that the artesian flow will not last, and that this strike in the big well on Bell's Hill is but temporary.

Flow Stronger Every Day.
Yesterday the water was coming in a stronger flow than ever. It was coming out of a four-inch pipe at full force and equally as strong out of the two-inch casing well which the four-inch well is being bored. To give an understanding of the well, the following explanation ought to be made: The original well was 1800 feet deep; the casing of that well is 2 1/2 inches in diameter, and is now being done with a 4-inch pipe. The drill is down about 2200 feet. While the water that is coming to the surface, comes through a 7 1/2-inch casing, the well below the casing is not full 7 1/2 inches. To show the force of the water, it must be understood that the four-inch pipe that is in the well is intact from top of casing to bottom of drill. No water is lost in that pipe except through two small holes that are in the drill, one on each side. Yet through these two small holes comes enough water to fill the four-inch pipe and to show the force of the water, the end of the pipe and the end of the pipe is about ten or twelve feet from the surface of the earth.

WEDDED AT HIGHEST POINT

Mr. Stovall and Miss McFall Married on the Roof of the Amicable Building.

Upon the tower of the Amicable building, 23 stories above the pavement, H. B. Stovall and Miss Lillian McFall, of Mertens, were married yesterday afternoon by Rev. H. D. Boswell, pastor of the Provident Heights Baptist church.

Accompanied by a large party of friends, the couple arrived in the city early in the day, secured the license, and then telephoned to the publisher. He responded promptly, meeting the party in the city and journeying with them to the topmost point of the highest building in Texas, where they were made man and wife. Following the ceremony, the young people paid a visit to the Cotton Palace, where they remained for most of the afternoon, returning to their home in the evening.

Aside from the party of wedding guests from Mertens, a large number of those who occupy offices in the Amicable, hearing of the joyous occasion, made the journey to the top and took in the ceremony.

FOR BETTER BOOK PRICES

Retailers Are Not Satisfied With the Margin of Profit on the State Adopted Texts.

Election of officers and the appointment of a committee to confer with the publishers when the new contracts are signed, relative to securing better discounts upon state adopted school books, was the main matter taken up at the second annual meeting of the Texas Retail Book Dealers' Association, held in the rooms of the Business Men's Club in the Amicable building yesterday afternoon.

The new officers of the organization are: M. E. Teetsworth, Houston, president; Mr. Bracey, Dallas, vice-president; E. P. Eldridge, Mineral Wells, secretary.

Houston was selected as the next place of meeting.

The session convened at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and in view of the fact that a number of the members wished to leave the city by 4 o'clock, no addresses were delivered. The matter of most importance before the organization was that with reference to the handling of the state adopted text books.

In spite of the fact that the convention did not go on record as being in favor of declining to handle the text books upon the present allowed discount of 10 per cent, the outcome of the discussion along this line resulted in the appointment of a committee composed of the president and one other member, to be named by the president, which will meet with the publishers when the new contracts are to be signed, the duty of the committee being to endeavor to secure a better discount.

It is known that some of the publishers are already in favor of granting a better discount to the retailers, and the object is to secure their unanimous consent to give the retailer a fair profit on the school books he handles for them.

INVITATION TO METHODISTS.

Mayor Mackey Sends Telegram to Bishop Atkins.

In an effort to secure the next annual session of the Central Texas Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, Mayor J. H. Mackey sent a telegram to Bishop James Atkins at Cleburne yesterday, inviting him to announce that Waco extends a hearty welcome to the Methodists to hold the 1913 meeting here.

Several prominent Methodists of Waco are in attendance and will use their influence to bring the next conference here. It is pointed out that Waco is the logical central point of Texas with eight railroads connecting with every section of the state.

VIOLATION OF SIXTEEN-HOUR LAW IS ALLEGED IN FEDERAL COURT CASE.

Charge is Against the M. K. & T.—Inspector Makes Assertion That Four Violations Occurred.

The attention of the federal court was occupied yesterday afternoon hearing four alleged violations of the consecutive working hour act, which is under the supervision of the interstate commerce commission and regulates the hours railroads may work their employees.

It is alleged by the inspector who worked up the case that in four different instances the M. K. & T. railroad company worked its train crews longer than sixteen hours. Several witnesses were introduced by the government to show the train crews worked longer than sixteen consecutive hours.

The law provides a penalty not to exceed $500 for this particular section of the law was enacted in 1907 and has been tested in the higher courts. The cases were not concluded yesterday afternoon.

SIX MONTHS IN JAIL.

Leon County Man is Tried for Using the Mails.

After making financial reparations within his power, J. P. Rouse pleaded guilty in the federal court yesterday to a charge of using the mails to defraud and was sentenced to serve six months in the McLennan county jail. The defendant was indicted sometime since following the produce and vegetable business he was carrying on at Marquez, Leon county, through the mails. He is alleged to have sent letters through the mail and in this way secured orders for rice and vegetables and other produce which he did not have to deliver. The investigation disclosed that Rouse did not have a plantation as he represented.

Immediately following the indictment, Rouse agreed to return almost everything he had collected from two men in Arkansas and one in Mississippi.

Barton is Discharged.
P. A. Barton, a sure show, who was fined $50 and sent to jail for refusal to answer questions in the case tried in Magistrate Dan Ford's court, was yesterday finally discharged by Judge Richard I. Munroe of the fifth-fourth district court, following arguments before him on the day prior.

Attorneys W. R. Saunders and R. H. Kingsbury for the defense, argued that no man could be forced to answer a question which might relate to a criminal case, and they tended to incriminate him. They declared the question as to whether Barton was at the Dixie on Sunday, November 3, was of such a character.

Other cases against moving picture shows charged with operating upon the same date will be tried in Magistrate Ford's court, the trials to begin this morning.

Magistrate Dan Ford, after hearing the evidence in the case reduced the charge against A. W. Rountree, first charged with having stolen property from I. Diamond valued at more than $50, to a charge of having stolen property valued at less than $50 from the complainant, and the case will go to the county court for trial.

Magistrate Ford also entered upon the trial of Leonard Gorman, charged with having stolen a dozen pistols, in company with another man, from the store of the Holt Hardware Company. The case will be completed this morning.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE IS COMING

Dr. Brooks Says to Young Women at Baylor They Should Prepare For It.

That Woman Suffrage is coming, and that women should prepare for it, was the statement made by Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor university in a short and informal talk he made the young women students of the university Wednesday morning.

Dr. Brooks spent several weeks in the east in doubtful states, making speeches in favor of the Wilson and Marshall ticket. He has been east before, and has been in Europe, but never before has he traveled in "doubtful states" during a heated national campaign, and he admits that he earned a great deal about politics while he was absent from Texas. He brought with him many interesting stories of his experiences, he has much to say of what he saw and of the manner in which a big campaign is conducted where people are in real earnest about opposing each other. One of the things he learned was something about the growing sentiment in favor of giving women the ballot.

When he talked at chapel exercises Wednesday morning to the young women students, he said in part: "I want you young ladies to become as well informed as you can on those questions which have to do with the government of this country and this state. I have never before advocated woman suffrage, but I see that it is coming. I will not say when it will come, but it is destined to be adopted, either state by state, or universally, and you may as well prepare for it."

PRISON LABOR CONDEMNED.
Report is Made at Congress of American Association.

Baltimore, Nov. 14.—The contract system of prison labor was condemned in a report presented today at the congress of the American Prison Association. The committee, however, recommended the system when no other means of employment for convicts could be provided, believing it preferable to idleness.

The employment of prisoners, the report maintained, should be directed entirely by the state and the products of his labor should be disposed of by the state.

Fort Worth Democrat to Settle the Fat Job by Vote of the People.
Fort Worth, Nov. 14.—A primary election to determine who shall be appointed postmaster to succeed L. M. Barkley has been proposed because of the fact that there already are a dozen active candidates in the field for the plum, and many others who will enter the lists on little or no encouragement from friends.

At a number of places already primary elections have been decided upon by the party organization to determine which man shall be recommended to the president for appointment. The plan often saves party leaders from much embarrassment in making recommendations.

Local leaders, especially those who were active in the Wilson campaign for the nomination, are being besieged by candidates for the postoffice, asking for endorsement. It is known that the party leaders here and elsewhere in the state: Cal Elliott, head of the money-order division at the postoffice; W. B. Kemble, furniture dealer; S. E. Frost, teacher in the high school; C. L. Sweet, former sheriff; T. T. Murphey, transfer clerk at the Texas & Pacific station; H. B. Cervany, an advertising man, and Samuel F. Crow, J. A. Wright, W.
